Billikin to Race at Brockton. Billikin to Race at Brockton.

Billikin, 2,20 1-4, Thomas R. Sadd's famous pacing gelding, was shipped to the Brockton fair Tuesday, and today will start in the 2,21 pace, $500 purse. This will be a supreme test for this horse, as the field includes some of the best steppers of the 2,20 class in New England. Billikin was unknown until September; since then he has entered eight races, getting 5 first moneys, and in the others got a place and a division of the purse. Mr. Sadd does his own driving in all the races Billikin starts in.

Shortage of Empty Barrels.

Shortage of Empty Barrels.

A number of farmers and others who make a specialty of harvesting apples in this town and vicinity state that there is a big shortage of empty barrels to store fruit. One man on Thursday rounded up but two dozen barrels. He said he needed at least a hundred. Flour barrels in the past have been used, but as 80 per cent. of families now buy flour in bag lots, the reason of the shortage of barrels is understood.

Quilting Bee.

The Ladies of the Maccabees of Windham hive, No. 31, held a quilting bee Thursday afternoon at the resi-dence of Mrs. G. W. Hammond on West Park street. It proved to be a very enjoyable affair. A dainty lunch-eon was served by the hostess, Possible Contest for City Clerkship. Although the city election is nearly two months off, activity is beginning to be shown by members of the democratic party. It was stated Thursday that A. C. Scripture had announced himself as willing to stand for the nomination of city clerk on the demonomination of city clerk on the demo-cratic ticket. It is known that John de Vicq is also a candidate for the office on the same ticket and that he has been working with that end in view quietly for the past fortnight with the knowledge of a number of the leading democrats of the city. It is understood that the republicans are likely to have one or more candidates in the field and there promises to be one of the hottest fights on, for a city election, that has confronted the voters in years.

STATE W. C. T. U.

Interesting Session on Second Day o Convention-Spirited Addresses and Reports of Encouraging Progress.

On Thursday morning some 75 more delegates and visitors than were registered on Wednesday were present when the state W. C. T. U. convention opened at 9 a. m. The first meeting was a devotional service led by Mrs. G. S. Brown of East Hampton. Mrs. Brown read for the scripture lesson II Peter 1. Several prayers were offered and testimonials were given as offered and testimonials were given as well as many quotations of scripture.

Prize for New London County. At 2.36 Mrg, Buell called the meeting to order. A hymn was sung and the recording secretary read the minutes of Wednesday's meeting. The first report was that of the superintendent of flower mission, Mrs. Frances H. Byrons of Danbury. Much work has been accomplished. Many sick have been visited. In the report of bouquets distributed. Windham county led, the number heing 7.056. Many jars of Jelly, fruit, etc. have been distributed. Clothing has been given to needy people. The work of the flower mission has been in excess of any previous year. Mrs. Byron; said that she offered a prize of a bouquet to the county sending the most bouquets. The prize went to New London county. With eight unions, nine hundred bouquets had been distributed. Mrs. Byrons called Miss Mary E. Day of Colchester to receive the bouquet of pinks. Miss Day received the trophy with cordial thanks.

The next report was on medical temperance, given by Miss Dora Taylor of Danbury. Many pages of literture had been distributed. The Middlesex county union furnished a room in the annex to the Middletown hospital to be known as the W. C. T. U.

Miss Marion Penfield of Bridgeport, superintendent of soldiers' and sailors' work, was unable to be present, and her report was read by Miss Sexton, the corresponding secretary. The Willimantic union gave a year's subscription to the sailors' reading room in New York. They have furnished to soldiers at Noroton fifty comfort bags. Much other good work has been done by this department.

Work in Sunday Schools.

Mrs. Jessie M. Pickup of Thomaston reported on temperance work in the Sunday school. She announced that in the near future would be the world's Temperance Sunday. The best worker in the temperance cause in Sunday school work is the Sunday school teacher. Mrs. Pickop had a fine display of poster banners and mottoes for her work.

Anti-Narcotics. Anti-Narcotics.

The next report was given by Miss.
Nellie J. Starr of Uncasville on antinarcotics. Her report showed that all the W. C. T. unions felt the importance of this work.
Mrs. Capitola H. Spencer of Hartford was unable to be present and Miss Sexton read her report on the Union Signal.

Sexion read her report on the Union Signal.

Mrs. Buell then introduced Mrs. White, a former president of Windham. Mrs. White's present summer home is in Brooklyn, Conn. Mrs. Buell presented Mrs. Parsons of Hartford, an early worker in the state W. C. T. U. Mrs. Parsons' remarks brought forth some stories from Mrs. Buell, who said it was a dangerous thing to get her to talking in a reminiscent way. Mrs. Forbes, a former state president, said it was through the labor of Mrs. White and Mrs. Parsons that the two banners exhibited were obtained.

Bible Reading by Mrs. Fuller.

Bible Reading by Mrs. Fuller.

At 11.30 Mrs. Lisa R. Fuller of Scotland gave a Bible reading. She took for her subject Deut. xiv. and Romans xii, Mrs. Fuller closed her Bible reading with prayer.

Mrs. Buell then introduced Mr. Ho-henthal of South Manchester, chairman of the state prohibition committee. Mr. Honenthal spoke of the work of the committee at the last election. Luncheon at Congregational Church.

After adjournment the ladies of the convention went to the Congregational church, where a delicious lunch was served by the ladies of the church. Afternoon Session. At 1.30, with Mrs. Buell in the chair, the convention listened to the report of recommendations of the official board. This was concerning business of importance connected with the state union. Mrs. Buell announced that the audience would sing The Old Oaken

Greeting from Suffrage Association. Mrs. Buell then introduced Mrs. Kendrick of the Woman's Suffrage as-sociation of Connecticut, who brought greeting from the association she rep-resented. Mrs. Kendrick made a very telling speech, having spent her time lobbying at Hartford from Jan. 1 until

Mrs. Buell introduced Mrs. A. C. Den-nison of Deep River, the state treas-arer, who reported that New Haven county had gained 11, Windham 53, Fairfield 84, Tolland 14. The rest of the counties reported a loss. Windham had made the largest gain Windham had made the largest gain per cent, and therefore received the banner. This called forth applause on the part of the convention. Mrs. Den-nison reported three life members the past year. At the close of her report Mrs. Kendrick announced that Mrs. Pankhurst, the world famed leader of the English suffragettes, would lecture

Rev. W. S. MacIntire's Address.

Rev. W. S. MacIntire's Address.

Mrs. Buell introduced Rev. W. S.

MacIntire of Hartford, associate secretary of the State Temperance union.

Mr. MacIntire made an enthusiastic speech and brought the greetings of the union. His only regret was that he had only such a short time. He would like to talk three hours.

Miss Sexton of East Hampton, the state corresponding secretary, was next introduced and gave her report, which introduced and gave her report, which was most interesting. Every union in the state was reported and showed the number and diversity of the work of he various departments of the organ

The next number was a song by eight roung ladies of the State Normal school. This was such a pleasing feature that they had to respond to an encore, after which Mrs. Buell asked Mrs. Watkins, president of the Hartford county union, to take the chah while she read her annual report. President's Annual Address.

President's Annual Address.

At the afternoon session of the convention the state president, Mrs. Buell, of East Hampton, read her annual address. Speaking of temperance progress in the country during the past year, she said: "There has been a quiet persistency along local option lines; not so very quiet, either, since in the middle west saloons have been closed at the rate of hundreds a day." She reviewed temperance activity in this state, along legislative lines, during the past year and described some of the bills that were before the legislature. She told of the heneficial legislation that has been obtained where women have full suffrage. In this state, islation that has been obtained where women have full suffrage. In this state, she said, "we go on making criminais and building places where they may be cared for. But after thirty-seven years of license," she continued, "Connecticut begins to wake and like a huge dog slowly stretches herself. It is too early to trace the results of the nolicense campaigns, but let us hope there has been a very decided gain. And let us also hope that the enforcement of these no-license laws will be so thorough as to convince some people that prohibition does prohibit."

Mrs. Buell recommended school district meetings for extending a knowledge of the W. C. T. U.'s work. The almishouse and county homes should be on the unions' visiting lists. She advocated the endorsement by the W. C. T. U. of plans for the safe and same observance of the Fourth of July, Flag day and other holidays. Vacation leagues for boys and girls, to keep the children from bad influences and conditions during vacation time, were favored and among other recommendations for the W. C. T. U. were increased activity in sending out temperance literature, especially just at this season, when the cider mill and cider barrel are so much in evidence; the more liberal use of posters in spreading total abstinence truths, the more general introduction of the total abstinence pledge in the Sunday vomen have full suffrage. In this state spreading total abstinence truths, the more general introduction of the total abstinence pledge in the Sunday schools; presentation of the work of scientific temperance instruction at all educational meetings in the state pushing work among foreigners with more vigor, and the use of anti-narcotic literature wherever it can be used with benefit, calling attention to the dangers in drug drinks other than those containing alcohol.

Report on Franchise

Report on Franchise. Mrs. Ella S. Bennett of Willimantic reported on franchise. Mrs. Bennett gave an interesting account of the work of her department. Mrs. Jennic C. Scripture of Willi-mantic, superintendent of parlor meetings, made a report of her work which was full of interest. Windham county was among the first along this line of work, holding 32 meetings and observing 27 red letter days.

The presidents of the new unions, Mrs. A. E. Wright of Warrenville, Mrs. Wyman of Mansfield and Mrs. Hull of Bristol union, were presented in turn. Tolland. Windham and Hartford county rose in recognition of these new officers.

The programme Thursday evening was as follows: Music: scripture, Rev. Ralph G. Hartley, Baptist church; prayer, Rev. William S. Beard, Congregational church; soprano solo, Mrs. Emma Jackson Chesbro; address, Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, New York: offering; benediction Rev. R. G. Hartley,

No One to Claim Mrs. Celia Watson's Bequest After Twenty Years-Dorca Circle Gives Benefit Supper.

Last year at this time chesinuts were a drug on the local market; under aimost any tree the hunter could pick up all he could carry. This year there is no chestnut crop. No Claimant for Bequest.

When Mrs. Celia Watson died over twenty years ago she bequeathed a sum of money to her son, who was missing at the time. The will provided that if in twenty years he did not return and claim this bequest, the sum of about $800 should go to the Hopeville M. church. The twenty years have elapsed. The Hopeville church building was burned some years ago and there has been no claim made for the money. No services are maintained in Hopeville and there are but few church members.

This sum is to be placed in the hands of the trustees of the New England Southern conference and the interest is to be used for the benefit of the M. E. church in the borough until such time as it shall be used in Hopeville. When Mrs. Celia Watson died over
